Outbound, set up and run for you

A sales agent that finds the right companies, writes to the right person in your voice, answers the replies and books the meeting. You read the first week; after that it runs. From NQL Group.

What it is

Software that works your top of funnel every day without a salesperson. It learns your business from your website, builds a list of companies that match your best customers, finds the decision maker, verifies the address, and sends a three-step sequence written in your own words. When someone answers, it sorts the reply, handles the simple ones, and hands you the people who want to talk.

What you get

- A list of target companies in your markets, built from how you describe your best customers, refreshed as you go.
- The right person at each one, with a verified email address. Guessed addresses are never written to.
- Three emails per person in your voice, from a house style we write with you. Under 75 words each, one question, no sales language.
- Replies sorted and answered: interested, objection, question, wrong person, out of office, unsubscribe. The awkward ones come to you.
- Meetings booked and placed in your calendar or CRM.
- A dashboard: what went out, who answered, what is waiting on you.

How it goes

1. One hour with you. Who buys from you, where, what the first email should say, and where meetings should land. We set up a mailbox on a sending domain that protects your main one.
2. Two weeks of warming. The new mailbox earns a reputation before the first cold email. Meanwhile the list is built and you read the first drafts.
3. The first week, with approval. Every email waits for your yes. You correct the voice once, at the source.
4. Then it runs. A slow daily ramp, caps, a stop if bounces rise. You see replies and meetings; we see to the rest.

The rules it keeps

- Business-to-business only, with an opt-out in every email and a postal address where the law asks for one.
- Consumer email is not sent in countries that require consent. We tell you which of your markets those are before we start.
- Your main domain is never used for cold email.
- No one is written to more than three times. A "no" is honoured at once, by machine, not by memory.

Setup

One hour of your time, two weeks of ours. The domain, the mailbox, the training, the list, the house style, the first drafts read with you.

Monthly

Keeping it running: new lists, the replies that need a person, the meetings in your calendar, a report each month. Cancel any month.

You bring

A website that says what you do, a Claude or Codex subscription it thinks with, and fifteen minutes a week to read what is waiting on you.

Prices on request; the figures depend on markets and volume. Built on open software we run ourselves for NQL Group. Nothing is sent that you have not approved in the first week, and nothing is sent to a private person without their consent where the law requires it.

NQL Group · Mirza Hasecic, Managing Partner · info@nqlgroup.com · WhatsApp +354 857 2319 · nqlgroup.com

Setup checklist, per client

What took an evening the first time takes an hour when done in this order. Tick as you go.

	STEP	WHO	NOTES
☐	Sending domain bought and pointed; SPF, DKIM and DMARC set	Us	Never the client's main domain. A domain under 30 days old is not ready; buy early.
☐	Mailbox created on it (Google Workspace, Microsoft 365 or SMTP/IMAP)	Us, with client	Client keeps the password. We hold it only in the agent's settings file on the machine that runs it.
☐	Warm-up started, start date recorded in the agent's settings	Us	Two to four weeks. The agent ramps from five a day.
☐	Machine and Python environment, one copy of the agent per client	Us	Separate folder per client, never shared: list, mailbox and replies stay apart.
☐	Claude or Codex signed in on that machine	Client's seat	Each client on their own subscription, or the terms must be checked before using ours.
☐	Trained on the client's website; notes reviewed and corrected	Us	Read what it learned before it writes. Remove anything the client does not want said.
☐	Targets set: industries, roles, countries and cities, company size	Client decides	Business-to-business only. Consumer markets listed and excluded where consent is required.
☐	House style written: greeting, first email, follow-ups, signature, footer	With client	One model email approved in writing. Postal address in the footer for US recipients.
☐	Search key in place; first discovery run; list reviewed in the dashboard	Us	Delete the noise before any writing. Add a verifier key for a larger list.
☐	Do-not-contact list: competitors, existing customers, anyone sensitive	Client	Domains and addresses. Enforced at send time.
☐	Meetings connected to the client's calendar or CRM	Us	The watcher script, scheduled every ten minutes.
☐	Loop started with approval on; first ten drafts read together	Both	Fix wording at the source, not draft by draft.
☐	Switched to automatic; daily cap agreed; monthly report date set	Both	Start low. Raise the cap only when bounces and complaints stay near zero.